YELLOW JACK IN MEXICO

American Planters and Railway Men Among the Victims.

Settlers From the United States Pan-ic-Stricken by the Spread of the Disease in the Isthmus of Tehuantepec—The Fever Also Makes Its Appearance at Vera Cruz.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, June 15.—There is a panic throughout the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, caused by the frightful spread of yellow fever.

The fever is of an unusually malignant type, and numbers of deaths are occurring day by day. American planters and employees on the railway seem to be especially susceptible to the malarial, and the death rate among those who have come from the United States is particularly high.

The Americans are terror-stricken by the fever and several hundreds of them—principally from Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, who have settled on the Isthmus during the past two years, to engage in the cultivation of coffee—are discussing arrangements for getting out of the country. Many of the Americans who have lost friends and relatives through the fever have already fled to the United States.

Business in the Isthmus is suffering greatly from the yellow jack scare, since many of the plantations have practically abandoned work. All trade is suffering from the panic caused by the epidemic, and if it continues for a great while many of the American planters will sustain heavy financial losses, if they are not utterly ruined.

There seems to be no prospect for immediate improvement in the situation, although everything possible is being done to check the progress of the disease.

The fever has also made its appearance in Vera Cruz.

Fears are entertained by the health authorities that the plague will spread to all the gulf ports of Mexico. All efforts to stay the progress of the malarial have thus far been futile and business interests throughout the country are alarmed at the prospect.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret Adlum Barber and Mr. William Chatfield Looker were married last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Henry, the latter being a sister of the bride. The handsome old mansion in Georgetown was decorated throughout with palms and vines, whose foliage served as a background for snowy masses of marguerites—the name flower of the bride. The back parlor, in which the ceremony was performed, was embowered in palms, behind whose foliage an orchestra was stationed. The folding doors were draped with a curtain of marguerites, and an aisle was formed through the front parlor by tall baskets filled with marguerites linked together by chains of field daisies and vines. The bride party descended the wide staircase to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," the ushers leading. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. John A. Barber, of St. Mary County, Md., who gave her hand in marriage. The wedding gown was a misty trailing robe of white mousseline de soie over white silk. It was draped with duchesse lace that has been in the bride's family for generations. A coronet of lilies of the valley was worn in her beautiful hair, and caught in the lace of her corsage was the groom's gift, a marguerite of diamonds and pearls. The bride flowers were a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride buds.

Miss Eugenia Barber, who was her sister's only attendant, preceded her, wearing a girlishly dainty creation of blue silk veiled with white mousseline de soie, and carrying an armful of sweet peas. The groom, with his best man, the Rev. Mr. Looker, and the bride's best man, the Rev. Mr. Looker, followed. The bride's bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Blair of Atlanta, Ga., was daintily robed in white chiffon over white tulle, and carried a cluster of pink sweet peas. Miss May Louise Starn, of Milwaukee, the attendant bridesmaid, wore white chiffon over pink silk and carried a great cluster of pink peas. Immediately preceding the bride walked her two little sisters, Mary and Florence Herring, each wearing silks of white chiffon over pink silk and carrying pink peas, which were the distinctive flowers in the decorations both of the church and the house. At the reception which followed at the residence of the bride's mother, 1916 F Street, Mrs. Herring was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Goring and by Mrs. John Dalzell, wife of Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Denison left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will go to Kendall Green, where they will spend a portion of the summer.

The marriage of Miss Edith Marie Eliehorn and Mr. Daniel John Donovan, was solemnized last night at St. Patrick's Church. The bride, attended by her father, passed up the aisle preceded by the ushers, Mr. Charles Rogers, Mr. Richard Douglas Simms, Mr. Morris Chamberlin, Louis C. White, Mr. H. George Thyson, and Mr. John J. Eliehorn, brother of the bride. Advancing a few steps before the bride walked her cousin, Miss Eleanor Ellis Courtney, wearing a French gown of white crepe de chine and lace over white silk, and carrying an armful of long-stemmed La France roses. The bride was attired in white silk net over white tulle. Her blossom-crowned veil was fastened with a diamond pin and she carried Bride roses and lilies of the valley arranged in a shower bouquet. Just before reaching the sanctuary the bridal train stopped to await the entrance of Rev. Dr. Stafford, the officiating clergyman, who came from the sacristy preceded by a group of scarlet-robed acolytes and followed by Rev. Dr. Rooker, Secretary of the Papal Legation; Rev. Father Glynn, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. Dr. Glavin, pastor of St. Mary's. As the train reached the sanctuary the acolytes formed a guard of honor on each side of the steps. The latter, with his best man, Mr. A. A. Watson, met the bride at the altar gate and conducted her to the marble steps of the altar, where the service was performed. The final portion of the ceremony was accompanied by an undercurrent of melody from "Faust," and the bridal train passed down the aisle to the march by Mendelssohn. A reception was held at the Eliehorn residence on Third Street, which was decorated throughout with snowy blossoms and palms.

The service was witnessed by only the members of the two families, but a large company made up of representative society of Washington and Georgetown, together with a number of out-of-town guests attended the reception which followed. Among them were the bride's mother, Mrs. John A. Barber, and Miss Mary Barber, from "Pellette," their estate, in St. Mary County, Md., which was a gift from Lord Baltimore to Cornelius Barber, and has been the home of his descendants ever since. The gifts, which were beautiful and artistic, included a silver chocolate pitcher and a graceful branching feather palm, which was the gift of the bride's father, Mr. John A. Barber, who is the choirmaster of that church. After their return from their honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Looker will reside at the Henry residence, Mr. and Mrs. Henry having taken a cottage for the summer at Chevy Chase.

THREE RELIABLE SHOE HOUSES

Epiphany Church was the scene of another beautiful wedding of last night. The bride was Miss Marion Elizabeth Herring and Mr. Raymond Chase Denison, was the groom. A very beautiful feature of the ceremony was the full church service rendered by the Rev. Mr. Denison, who was the officiating minister. The bride and groom have been members. The singers emerged from the vestry and passed down the aisle to welcome the bride, chanting as they went the nuptial chorus from "Lohengrin." In returning to the chancel they preceded the bride, which was led by the ushers—Dr. Charles Bolser, of New Hampshire; Mr. Sidney B. Fay, of Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. Allen Fay, Mr. Percival Hall, Mr. Herbert Galloway, and Mr. Silas Chittenden, of St. Mary's. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. John A. TO REDUCE STEEL PRICES.

Action Will Be Taken by the Beam Pool Today.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 15.—The beam pool, as the agreement between the manufacturers of structural steel is known, will meet today at the office of A. R. Whitney, the New York agent of the Carnegie Company, to reduce the price of steel to correspond with the decline in the cost of raw materials.

For some time past the price of structural steel has been 2.25 cents per pound, or $45 a ton. It is proposed to lower the rate $5 a ton. The action to be taken today is conservative, and will do much to maintain the stability of the market. The firms in the beam pool are the Carnegie Company and Jones & Laughlins, Pittsburgh; Pecos Iron Works, of Philadelphia; Passaic Rolling Company, Passaic, N. J.; Cambria Iron Company, Johnstown, Pa.; Phoenix Steel Company, Phoenixville.

Body Found in the Potomac.

PIDMONT, W. Va., June 15.—Another mysterious death was made known yesterday by the discovery of the body of a man in the river just below Piedmont by David Paxton, who resides at Rat Tail. He secured the body and notified Justice Charles Huth, who declined to hold an inquest, and had the body buried in the river's bed. The body was badly decomposed and had been in the river several weeks. The man was clean shaven and weighed nearly 200 pounds. He had two semi-monthly pay checks issued in April to Henry Dugan, bearing the name of Boggs mine, probably at Boggs run, a suburb of Wheeling. The body has been in deep water below town, as it could not have passed the riffle above. Foul play is suspected.

Held Up by Highwaymen.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 15.—To add to the discomfort of the people of Mount Pleasant and that section where burglaries galore have been committed recently, a citizen was waylaid and robbed here Wednesday night. Valentine Liskey, a miner, was the victim. A posse of citizens started in pursuit and three Hungarians were captured. They were brought to prison here.

HOW TO AVOID TROUBLE.

Now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over, and if procured now you may save you a trip to town in the night or in your busiest season. It is everywhere advertised to be the most successful medicine in use for bowel complaints, both for children and adults. No family can afford to be without it.
